ABOUT US

Welcome to the Pipeline!

Pipeline was designed to present communications service providers with critical industry information relevant to driving profitability and delivering the latest generation of communication services. The world's leading communications providers and industry suppliers turn to Pipeline to keep abreast of market demands, government mandates, technical advances, and industry trends. Pipeline subscribers understand that the knowledge contained in our pages empowers them to address, understand, and more quickly adapt to the dynamic environment of the communications industry.

Pipeline's Service Provider and Featured Vendor profiles examine carriers and solutions that demonstrate thought-leadership, innovation, and the ability to deliver real solutions. In addition, each issue of Pipeline explores a specific area of interest to our readers, while staying focused on the issues that our readers are presently facing. The final Pipeline product delivers business, technology, regulatory, and expert coverage and analysis directly to the decision makers that govern how service providers invest in technology.

Our regular editorial outreach provides your voice to an audience interested in your technology, solutions, and applications. Pipeline's editorial staff encourages industry contributions and is dedicated to being a communications conduit between you and your market. Our world-wide team of journalists is dedicated to providing coverage of the providers and vendors who are enabling notable advances in communication services.

Pipeline's blend of proactive editorial coverage and unique advertising functionality fosters real business growth in addition to the regular brand building value of traditional advertising. Pipeline has become a recognized industry resource for thousands of industry professionals and dedicated information channel for the world's leading communications service providers.

We take a different approach to advertising by compounding the value of traditional advertising with the power and interactivity of Web technology. Pipeline provides high-visibility and sales-enabling advertising and sponsorship opportunities that provide guaranteed readership with direct marketing and sales functionality. For more information on advertising opportunities, please visit our Advertising Opportunities area.

Media

Pipeline distributes critical market coverage to thousands of communication professionals each month via the web and a newsletter. With this in mind, we are always open to receiving your feedback, editorial ideas, new technological advances, and of course breaking press releases. To be included in an upcoming issue of Pipeline, please email us at editor@pipelinepub.com.

Sponsorships

Combining editorial and sponsorships are one of the most effective ways to build, deliver, and reinforce a company's message. Pipeline is aligning itself with the OSS/BSS vendors that are clearly the most suitable technology partners or providers to the Tier 1 and Tier 2 landline and mobile carrier markets.

Sponsorship opportunities are designed to build your brand, offer direct marketing functionality, and drive highly qualified sales-leads to your company through a comprehensive, high-visibility program. Pipeline sponsors receive consistent promotion in our monthly e-newsletter, as well as several interactive placements on the Pipeline website. All sponsorship opportunities incorporate brand-building activities, such as:

- Company profile and logos in the monthly newsletter and on the website with reciprocal links to your company's website to increase web traffic.
- Company Advertisements embedded within the article pages, which guarantee you views and high visibility by linking directly to your company's sponsor page. (Placements can be static or animated and can be changed as your corporate message changes.)
- Sponsor's page which contains your corporate description, branded content, and your Information Request Form.
- Information Request Form, which is a lead generation tool that allows readers to send pre-qualified sales leads directly to your sales team.
- Up to five items of branded content (Acrobat Files) posted with your company profile to the Pipeline website.
- Return on Investment (ROI) Report illustrating the number of times your company placements were viewed, number of times your marketing documents were downloaded, and number of times the Information Request Form was viewed and submitted.

Pipeline's Sponsorship Packages feature all the advantages of online advertising that print publications can't. By directly incorporating your company placement into the editorial layout you are guaranteed visibility and the ability to contact those with a direct interest in your services! This insures interactivity for your ads, and doesn't leave you stranded behind a subscription card, a competitor's advertorial or among the classifieds. Further, our readers have the ability to contact you directly through your advertisement making it a direct-sales tool.

Sponsorship Packages

Sponsorship packages bundle various company placements and frequency discounts with value-added activities that provide you maximum marketing exposure at a discounted price.

Additional Services

In addition to promoting your company in Pipeline’s magazine and Newsletter, you can significantly increase brand building exposure to our qualified readers by taking advantage of the following services:

List Rentals

$6,995

A one-time blast of your branded materials is distributed to our subscriber database, via a third-party, bonded mail house. This is an excellent way to reach the thousands of Pipeline Subscribers, and the only way to directly access our readers. Pipeline limits the number of list rentals each month. Inquire today for availability and timing.

Turn-key Webinar Package

$7,995 per presenting company

The presenting company chooses the topic and creates the content with help from Pipeline's leading editorial staff. Pipeline co-brands the webinar and co-markets it our subscriber base of the worlds leading service providers. We do this through email promotions to our database and advertisements placed in our publication for the months leading up to the webinar. We handle the production, registration, and promotion. The presenting company receives the complete attendee list as a lead source after the event. You can also invite your partners to participate at a discounted rate!

Sponsored Article

$4,995

Pipeline offers Sponsored Articles as a service to vendors to enable the distribution of a focused, branded marketing message to our entire readership. Distribute an "advertorial" about your company, your solutions and your products. This provides you with the ability to communicate your message through our web-based publication, and directly to our subscribers, when it may not be deemed "newsworthy" by other publications. This is a great way to promote case studies, white papers and other marketing pieces to the world's leading service providers. Sponsored Articles are branded with your company name, logo and advertising graphics. The article will be published in one issue of Pipeline magazine, and will also be sent as a special direct e-mail piece to our subscriber database of OSS professionals.

Commissioned Article

$4,995

Pipeline offers Commissioned Articles as a service to vendors who want to enlist the expertise of our Editorial Team. Have you identified a story that needs to be investigated and reported? Is misinformation hindering your sales efforts? Pipeline can assist you. By tapping the creative resources of our international team of journalists and editorial staff, you can hire Pipeline to research and write a commissioned article on a topic that is important to your OSS business. Let our objective voice tell your story to the world's leading communications service providers.

Article Reprints

Articles published in Pipeline are the sole property of Pipeline Publishing, L.L.C. and cannot be distributed or reproduced without permission. High-quality paper reprints are available through sales@pipelinepub.com at the following prices:
